DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1, 4, 6, 10, 11, 13, 15, 17, 21, and 50-67 are pending. Claims 1, 15, 21, 50, 55, and 59 have been amended and claims 60-67 have been added in this communication filed 5/17/05 entered as amendment and Request for Continued Examination.
2. The objection to the Specification has been overcome by Applicants' amendment to the Specification is hereby withdrawn.

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

3. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 5/17/05 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

5. Claims 1, 4, 6, 10, 11, 13, 15, 17, 21, and 50-67 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. It is unclear in the Specification that the ACH and automated banking system do not receive the physical check and this is the reason for the 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph rejection.

Election/Restrictions

6. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1, 4, 11, 13, 50-54, and 60-63, drawn to a system for entering information from a conventional check and effectuating the deposit of a discrete value, classified in class 705, subclass 35.
 - II. Claims 15, 17, 21, 55-58, 64, and 65, drawn to a method for receiving conventional checks, logging a bank customer payee onto an automated banking system, entering transaction data, and processing the discrete value of each check deposited, classified in class 705, subclass 45.
 - III. Claims 59, 66, and 67, drawn to a method for associating a terminal with a demand deposit account, receiving a request from the bank customer, authorizing the bank customer payee as a user, receiving the transaction data related to the deposit of a conventional check, classified in class 705, subclass 40.
7. Inventions Group I, Group II, and Group III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Groups I and II have separate utility such as information being entered from a conventional check into a customer terminal and effectuating a deposit of a discrete value of each check into an account of a customer payee and Group II has separate utility such as receiving conventional checks, logging a bank customer payee onto an automated banking system, entering transaction data, and processing the discrete value of each check deposited. The subcombination Group III has separate utility such as associating a terminal with a demand deposit account, receiving a request from the bank customer, authorizing the bank customer payee as a user, receiving transaction data related to the deposit of a conventional check.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II and Group III, the search for Group II is not required for Group I and Group III, and the search for Group III is not required for Group I and Group II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicants' are advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
